ART Infested WATER

NEWSLETTER

APRIL 2017

Message from the Editors:

We have reached the penultimate month of the 2016-2017 school year, and with that comes the final performances of the year. The Directing and Choreography students will be showcasing pieces that they have created. Seniors will also be presenting the final projects of their undergraduate years in the Senior Showcase. In addition to these special events, the theatre department will be putting up the last show of the 2016-2017 season, Suddenly Last Summer, and artwork from the Annual Juried Student Exhibition can still be seen on display in Gallery 217. This edition of Art Infested Water will be showcasing the student choreographers and directors that will be featured at the Festival of Student Works. We look forward to seeing the last works of the school year from all of our PVA students!

Black Box Awards

Sport your best attire and join us at the annual Black Box Awards! The Black Box Awards honor the best performances of the season, including Best Dancer, Best Actor, Best Director, Best Stage Manager, and many more. Students can buy their tickets for the event from Margaret in her office in the scene shop on the first floor of the UC, at which time they may also cast their votes for each of the categories. Professors will also be awarding Star Awards in each of the three performing arts categories represented at NSU: Music, Theatre, and Dance.

When: April 30th, 6:00pm reception, ceremony at 7:00pm
Where: Flight Deck for pre-ceremony hor d'oeuvres, ceremony immediately following in the Black Box Theatre

Festival of STUDENT WORKS

The Festival of Student Works is the culmination of performing arts students' studies here at NSU. Students in the Choreography class create a dance piece, and students in the Directing for the Stage class choose a short one-act play to direct and be performed by their peers. Each director and choreographer creates their own lighting, sound, and sets, bringing in aspects of each part of their studies. Many of the directors and choreographers are seniors, making the Festival of Student Works one of their final performance pieces at NSU. This is a FREE event, so make sure to come out and support the students! Dance performances will begin at 7pm in the Performance Theatre, followed immediately by the One Acts in the Black Box Theatre.
